*Sleep sweetly in your humble
graves,*

Sleep, martyrs of a noble cause,

*Through yet no marble column
craves*

The pilgrim have to pause.

*Stoop, angels from the skies!
There is no holier spot
of ground
Than where loyal valor lies,
By morning beauty crowned!*

Let us now praise famous men—
Men of little showing—
For their work continueth,
Broad and deep continueth,
Greater than their knowing.

Rev. George J. Renneker, S. M.

PRESIDENT

Upon the shoulders of the Very Reverend George K. Renneker, S. M., rest the myriad responsibilities of the presidency of this university. His rare insight and humanitarian qualities enable him to dispatch the duties of this office in a manner befitting the highest standards and traditions of Christian education.

Fr. Renneker came to the helm of the University of Dayton in trying times—times when the very principles embodied in the foundation of this university were being debated on the field of battle. His steady hand has guided his charge through the war crisis and is now directing it wisely and surely through the labyrinths of reconstruction.

A leader whose opinions are sought and valued by civic, religious and educational circles, Fr. Renneker has given long and faithful service to this institution. Still he is a humble man and in this humility we may find, perhaps, the key to his tremendous personal popularity. He is a counselor and friend to student and professor alike. The door to his office is open at all times and no detail or problem of campus life is too insignificant for his consideration.

Educator—leader—friend—this is Fr. Renneker.

Vice-president, dean, registrar—to fill these three offices a man must possess remarkable and versatile talents. Such a man is the Reverend Charles L. Collins. In his capable hands are the reins of this University. It is he who maintains that close relationship between administration and student body of which U. D. is so justly proud.

Blessed with a remarkable serenity in the face of even the most disturbing of situations, Fr. Collins is deliberate and impartial in his contacts with faculty and student body. His remarkable far-sightedness is a characteristic of his work which the University will undoubtedly be grateful for in years to come. He looks at the present with an eye to the future, knowing full well what this institution can be in years to come.

A keen student of human behavior, Father Collins is ever conscious of his serious responsibility of guiding and directing the students. Skillfully he seeks to mold their conduct to conform with the principles and standards of this university. Wisely he guides their activities to follow this pattern.

Organizer—scholar—diplomat—this is Father Collins.

In Memoriam

Matthias Haas, S. M.

*Green be the turf above thee,
Friend of my better days!
None knew thee but to love thee,
None named thee but to praise.*

These words are a fitting tribute to Brother Matthias Haas, S. M., former dean of the college of engineering, who was laid to his eternal rest last June.

In class, Brother Matt, or "Doc", as his students and associates knew him, had the never failing ability of mixing formal lecture with kind understanding and a warmth that endeared him to all who have had occasion to be his students.

Outside of class, Brother Matt was an attentive listener to one's grievances and problems; his smile, ever present pipe, and kind words of counsel were a source of inspiration to more than a few students. His geniality permeated the entire community. During the critical years of the war, he did unparalleled work in coordinating emergency war-time classes at the University.

Despite the fact that Brother Haas was so outstanding in life, his greatest monument in death shall be the successes of those men and women who were his students in life. His spirit shall live on in all those whose futures he helped to form.

Organizations

First row: Ted Aponyi, Alice Millar, Ann Fitzgerald, Madeleine Unger, Mary Behringer, Joan Hussey.
Second row: Dick Barr, Allan Braun, George Mitchell, Tom McCarthy, Kenneth Trimbach, Jess Steberl, John Thalheimer.

Student Council

Organized by student initiative and carried on by student leadership, the Student Council functions to realize the goal set up in the preamble to its constitution "—to foster a spirit of closer relationship among all campus organizations, to present student opinions and activities, and to promote a closer relationship between the faculty and students of the University—".

The group is made up of fourteen members, elected by the respective classes. The president of each class automatically becomes a member of the body. Representation is proportional to class standing—five seniors, four juniors, three sophomores and two freshmen.

The council acts as a legislative and judicial body insofar as it deliberates upon a proposal, passing judgement upon its worth, or, where the circumstances so require, lays down rules for the benefit of the student body. The council functions also as a mediator in grievances between students and faculty.

Officers of the Council for this past year were: Alice Millar, president; Ted Aponyi, vice-president; Joan Hussey, secretary, and Tom McCarthy, treasurer.

Seated: Alice Blaeser, J. King Bradow, Catherine Ens, James Noll, John Thalheimer.
 Standing, first row: Dr. K. C. Schraut, Raphael Pinol, Helen Lechner, Virginia Johnston, Kenneth Trimbach, Carlos Urrutia.

Mathematics Club

The University of Dayton Mathematics Club was founded in December 1940, under the direction of Dr. K. C. Schraut. The purpose of the Club is the promotion of interest in mathematics, through informal discussion in those fundamental topics in both pure and applied fields, which seldom arise in undergraduate courses. Semi-monthly meetings are held in which the various members present papers. A book is presented as the Dean of Science Award, to that member of the Club who presents the most interesting paper of the semester. At each commencement, the outstanding Junior and Senior in the Math Club are presented the Mathematics Club Alumni Award for excellence in advanced mathematics.

A picnic is held during the first semester and a banquet at the end of the second semester. Members of the Freshmen Class, showing promise in mathematics, are initiated at the beginning of the second semester, upon recommendation of their professors. At the final meeting of the year, the Club is addressed by a prominent mathematician from a nearby university. Dr. Schraut is faculty advisor. Officers for the year were Kay Ens, president; King Bradow, vice-president and secretary, and James Noll, treasurer.

International Relations Club

Seated: Sammy DeHart, Ada Kay Bomford, Ann Miller, Mary Cavanaugh, Myra Boland, Charlotte Suman, Frank Schmidt, Ralph Plas.
Standing: Herbert Wong, Ralph Valls, Mary Keville.

The International Relations Club of the University of Dayton has functioned for many years here on the campus. It was, before the war, an exponent of the arbitration of disputes as a means of settling claims. When this failed, its members joined in the fight to give of their lives the necessary sacrifices to save the rights of freedom.

In this year of peace the club began with an enlarged membership and undertook the job of restoring all the services that were rendered before the war. The International Relations News, a monthly paper, began publication in December; staff members were Samuel De Hart, Mary Rose Keville, Mary Frances Cavanaugh and Myra Boland. The club sponsored a series of lectures, the first of which was given by Pvt. Phiroze Nazir of Bombay, India, who spoke on the "Economic and Social Problems of India." Brother Joseph Janning spoke on the "Background of China Today and Tomorrow."

The members elected Samuel K. De Hart, president; Joan Sides, vice-president; Mary Rose Keville, secretary; Mary Frances Cavanaugh, treasurer. Brother Albert Rose served as faculty advisor.

Interracial Club

Seated: Burdell Brewer, Ada Kay Bomford, Mary Cotterman, Harlena Smith, Dorothy Hendricks, Virginia Johnston.
Standing: Dick Mason, Gloria Colp, Margaret Dierken, Joan Olch, Lucille Clark, Will Griffith.

The Interracial Club was formed to foster interracial understanding and fellowship among the students of the University of Dayton. Realizing the wealth of culture inherent in every race, so little understood or appreciated by others, the constant aim of the Club is not to study the problems of prejudice and ill-will that ignorance breeds, but to study racial customs, talents and culture in the best American tradition of human equality.

This year a membership survey ascertained the directions of interest in the group and influenced the course of the year's activities—the bi-weekly meetings, the Christmas program, the field trips. Among its more important definite accomplishments was the study and encouragement of the Fair Employment Practices Bill, and the organization's representation at International Day, sponsored by Wilberforce University.

Four program chairmen headed the Club. Elizabeth Daw, Will Griffith, Juanita Mason and Mary Jane Olch shared this responsibility. Pat Schultz served as secretary and Dorothy Clark as treasurer. Dr. Edward Huth is Club advisor.

Cabos

First row: Ted Aponyi, Bill Greger, George Motejka, Kenneth Trimbach, Joe Mori, Jerry Risacher.

Second row: Madeleine Unger, Eleanor Kurtz, Myra Boland, Mary Behringer, Joan Hussey, Mary Wood, Ann Fitzgerald.

The Campus Activities Board of Service was organized in 1938 by Rev. Lawrence Monheim. The aim of this society is to render service to other organizations on the campus, especially those of a religious nature.

Some of the activities that CABOS sponsored this year were the annual skating party, held at the beginning of the school term, the selling of Christmas Cards with all proceeds going to the poor, and the holding of the devotions in the chapel during the Lenten Season. They also helped in the Lecture Series sponsored by the university, aided in the distribution of the new campus newspaper the "Red and Blue", and continued their work on the service board.

Under the leadership of Kay Ens, Ed Marriman, and Joan Hussey, CABOS adopted a constitution to enable it to improve its organization.

Serving as officers for the year were Allan Braun, President, Ed Marrinan, Vice-President, Rita McGarry, Secretary, and Joan Hussey, Treasurer.

First row, seated: Letitia Rose, Ann Fitzgerald, Peggie Lind, Katherine Albaugh.
Second row: Lillian Campbell, Joan Roderer, Mary Gunther, Vincent Parlette.
Third row: Jane Sullivan, Charlotte Hochwalt, Ed Atherton.
First row standing: Isabel Klopf, Rita Gough, Lois Field, Ann Burns, Marian Wallgren, Martha Chaney.
Third row standing: Glenn Hoffman, Virgil Haws, Emmett Campbell.

Sigma Delta Pi, honorary scientific society, was organized in 1936 for the purpose of creating enthusiasm for superior scholarship, to promote exemplary with modern advances in medicine and scientific research.

Meetings are held bi-weekly and speakers usually discuss some topic in the field of medicine, nursing, dietetics, or technology. This year there have been included lectures by doctors telling of their experiences in Army Medical Corps during the war.

Social activities include an annual banquet in the spring and each year late in May the society sponsors a picnic given for the entire science division.

Doctor Francis J. Molz, S. M., is faculty advisor for the society. The officers include Ann Fitzgerald, president; Letitia Rose, vice-president, Rita Gough, secretary; and Ortha Tschudy, treasurer.

The 1946 Daytonian

With the close of the war and an influx of students, old and new, the "Daytonian" once more makes its annual appearance after an absence of two yers.

The reappearance of the "Daytonian" is very much in line with the theme selected for the book is quite characteristic of the atmosphere about the university—Welcome Back!!

With dogged determination the staff worked diligently and patiently against shortages—of time and materials—surmounted unexpected obstacles, to produce a volume of pictures, stories and places—the University of Dayton student's own book of memories.

The Exponent

Staff members and the advisor of the Exponent, the university monthly magazine, have held the campus literary fort single-handed during two war years. This year marked the 40th of its activity when it tended to revert to the original format, covering some of the most important campus notes and events, to make up, in a small way, for the absence of the U. D. News.

Subjects for the Exponent's pages have ranged from symphonies to slapstick. The "Kampus Kut-ups" feature has increased the Exponent's popularity many fold. A poetry supplement was featured with the last issue.

Editor-in-chief for two years has been Ada Kay Bomford. Assisting her as associate editors are Samuel DeHart, Rita McGarry (women's page editor), Fredericka Bunton, Joseph Towers, Isabelle Klopff, Mary Cotterman, Anne Matson and King Bradow. Brother Thomas Price has been advisor for the publication for nine years.

Public Relations Committee

Betty Mayl, Bro. Ed Knust, Mary Shay

Serving as a link between school and public, interpreting the activities of the university, and as a bond between school and alumni is the Public Relations Committee. The staff is made up of three members, Brother Edward Knust, S. M., Miss Mary Shay, and Miss Betty Mayl.

Brother Knust, chairman of the committee, has charge of the student promotion bureau. The purpose of this branch is to distribute literature to prospective collegians to influence them to make Dayton University the site of their higher education. Correspondence from Brother Knust's desk reaches to all parts of the nation and even beyond its shores.

Miss Mary Shay is the alumni secretary. Under her supervision is the publication and distribution of the "Alumnus", a monthly magazine containing news items about alumni members. The volume is sent to all graduates.

Miss Mayl is the director of publicity. Through her office proceed all forms of information concerning activities of students and faculty—academic, athletic, and extra-curricular.

The three offices coordinate their activities so as to keep the public informed of all events which take place at the university.

Who's Who

Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges is a national honorary society which awards certificates of merit to a select number of students who have been designated by their professors as being superior in scholastic work, service to others, abilities in extracurricular fields and show promise of being successful in their later years. The central committee elects a definite number from the names submitted by the university officials. This past year the University of Dayton placed ten students on the roll.

Selection of students for Who's Who is an annual affair, and the biographies of those chosen for this honor are compiled and published in a book at the close of each school year.

Who's Who is not only a means of public recognition of a student's capabilities, but also a possible route to contacts for securing a position after graduation, insofar as the society conducts an office whose sole purpose is to introduce graduating students to prospective employers.

Seated: Eleanor Kurtz, Catherine Ens, Ada Kay Bomford, Allan Braun, Mary Cotterman, Alice Millar.
Standing: Joseph Mori, Ann Fitzgerald, Ted Aponyi, Kenneth Trimbach.

Alpha Sigma Tau

First row: Miriam Wallgren, Shirley Duerr, Dorothy Dixon, Mary Kessen, Mary Behringer, Marianna Monty, Mary Cotterman.

Second row: Helen Lechner, Catherine Raso, Iva Lou Aller, Joan Sides, Marian Schoch, Alice Blaeser.

Third row: Isabel Klopf, Madeleine Unger, Pat O'Brien, Catherine Ens, Betty Giere, Peggy Ens.

Fourth row: Warren Wilson, J. King Bradow, Raphael Valls, James Wilson, Charles Hart.

Alpha Sigma Tau is the campus honorary organization. Membership is limited to those students who have attained honor ratings during the respective semesters. A cumulative point average of three-five is required for such a rating.

During the first few years of one's college life, membership in the society is a probation period, insofar as participation is only of a temporary nature. If, however, a student has a point average of three-five at the completion of seven semesters, he is made a permanent member of the organization and he is awarded an honor key as a token of membership in the society.

First row: James Noll, Ubaldo Rossi, Michael Libcy, Juan Bermudez, Robert Kelly.

Second row: Ralph Plas, Edgar Moore, Rudolfo Krafka, Robert Rauh, William Burnich.

Third row: Luis Marrero, Raphael Pinol, Tony Portilla, Raphael Valls, James Romer.

Fourth row: Norman Pudzinski.

Sodality

The Sodality of the Immaculate Conception was organized on the campus as a means of promoting greater devotion to the Blessed Virgin through the study of her life and virtues. Membership in the Sodality is limited to campus students.

Weekly meetings are held in Alumni Hall where the members discuss various subjects of a nature which pertain to Our Blessed Mother. Individual students present short talks on her life and an informal discussion follows on how Mary's virtues may be introduced into the present age.

During the school year special devotions to the Blessed Virgin were planned under the supervision of Fr. Edwin Leimkuhler, S. M., faculty moderator.

Edgar Moore, president, Ubaldo Rossi, vice-president, and Rudolfo Krafka, secretary, were elected officers for the year.

Pat McDonough, Bill Greger, Ann Fitzgerald, Allan Braun, Kay Ens

NFCCS

One of the least publicized organizations on the campus is the N. F. C. C. S., the National Federation of Catholic College Students. This, however, is not due to a lack of activity on the part of its members. The N. F. C. C. S. has as its special objective "the unification of the whole of the student bodies at our Catholic institutions of higher learning".

It also sponsors special interest groups known as commissions in which the actual work of the Federation is accomplished. U. D. has the National Commission on Catholic Action Study.

During the past year various U. D. students have attended regional meetings at Cincinnati and likewise have served as officers. Kay Ens held the post of corresponding secretary in the region during the year, and Mary Grace Behringer will function as recording secretary of the region during the coming year. Al Braun is also a former regional president, and Pat McDonough holds the special position of secretary of the National Commission on Catholic Action Study.

Chapel Choir

First row: Ralph Plas, Raphael Valls, Joseph Mori, Jerry Risacher.
Second row: Charles Seaman, Carmel Clune, Anthony Barther, Tony Portilla, Robert Kelly, Luis Marrero.

The chapel choir consists of campus students who wish to take a more active part in the sacrifices of the Holy Mass. Under the able direction of Brother Tom Poitras, S. M., the choir, consisting this year of fourteen members, has acquired a fairly large repertoire of liturgical music.

The choir took part in all the high masses offered during the semester. They practice twice weekly to improve on the presentation of pieces already learned and to practice new pieces in preparation for future feast days and special occasions. Many new and beautiful arrangements have been presented this year alone.

Through the capability and interest of Brother Poitras and the willing cooperation of the choir members, the music and the singing of the Mass can be varied to suit the season. In such a manner the beauty of the Mass is greatly enhanced.

Servers

First row: George Motejka, Joe Mori, Raphael Valls, Bob Kelly.
Second row: John Forbes, Ralph Plas, Edgar Moore, John Hogan.

First row: Sam DeHart, Jack Dawson, Tom McCarthy.
Second row: Bill Fortman, Ed Marrinan, Lee Miller.

Mindful of the saying, "One is never too old to serve Mass", the University has an organization of students on the campus who serve as acolytes at the various religious services. The servers give their time freely and generously, asking nothing in return. Both campus and off-campus students participate in the activities of the organization.

Allan Braun was in charge of the servers for the daily Mass for the campus students. Edgar Moore obtained the servers for the Evening Benediction. Andy Belavic had charge of acolytes for the Sunday high mass, while Lee Miller organized a group to assist at noon day devotions and Thursday morning chapel services.

Bro. Paul Omlor, S.M., was faculty moderator of the acolytes and assisted the respective group leaders.

Student Retreat

Beware of hidden traps!

Climax—
Spiritual Food

Mindful of the fact that a student must have spiritual as well as intellectual enlightenment, the University sponsored its annual student retreat last October. Father John Costello, graduate of the U. of D., class of 1908, was retreat master.

The retreat, taking four days to complete, reminded the student that he has as much an obligation to look after his soul as he has to look after his temporal welfare. Father Costello very forcefully elucidated many pitfalls which in these days of deceit can ensnare youth and ruin his life.

To the student it was a pleasant change from the excitement of preparing classes to the tranquility, the quiet, restful atmosphere of the chapel, where the life of the soul was once more renewed with the graces of our Creator.

C. S. M. C.

With its motto, "The Sacred Heart for the world, the world for the Sacred Heart", as the guiding principle, the Catholic Students Mission Crusade, C. S. M. C., was reorganized this year after three years of inactivity. Both campus and off-campus students are included in the group.

Meetings were held weekly during which ways and means of spreading the Word of God on earth were discussed. The three-fold program of the Crusade consists of prayer, study, and sacrifice for the missions. Another step was taken forward this year when the university's C. S. M. C. chapter became an integral member of the Bishop Thill Conference, which includes the high schools of the Miami Valley and the University.

Several regional meetings were held at different schools throughout the year. Climax of the annual activities was a magnificent rally of students in the University of Dayton stadium in May.

John Forbes was president of the unit, John Hogan, vice-president, Edgar Moore, secretary, and Gil Stovicek, treasurer. Father Edwin Leimkuhler, S. M., was faculty moderator.

Red Cross

First row: Mary Cotterman, Winnie Coates, Evelyn Boyer, Mary Wood.
Second row: Margaret Dierken, Gloria Colp, Rita McGarry, Shirley Tingle, Joan Hussey.
Third row: Joan Olch, Alice Millar, Ann Fitzgerald, Ada Kay Bomford, Harriet Theodose, Madeleine Unger, Jean LeBeouf, Peggy August.

On April 24, 1945, Mr. C. T. Rogers, Assistant Recreational Director of the Red Cross at Patterson Field, presented a charter to Father Collins which signified that a Red Cross College Unit had been formed here at the University of Dayton.

Between March and December of 1945, a total of 3585 hours were devoted to Red Cross work. An average of 150 women were constantly engaged in some kind of Red Cross activity. Thirty students solicited zones for the War Fund Drive. University of Dayton girls entertained veterans confined to the Patterson Field Hospital at eight Recreation Hall parties and seven ward parties. The ward parties are held for the benefit of those men whose injuries make it impossible for them to attend affairs in the Recreation Hall.

Besides these regular monthly parties, there were two afternoon teas. One of our students, Mrs. Gertrude Hickey, '45, worked in the Motor Corps. Helen Lechner taught a refresher course in algebra to veterans at the Soldiers' Home, and Alice Millar also taught Spanish there. Eight delegates attended the convention at Columbus, Ohio, on March 2 for the Ohio and Indiana Colleges at which Red Cross Units are established.

Sister Agnes Immaculata is faculty advisor for the unit.

Four women's groups exist on the campus. Each is composed of the women students in a particular division. The primary purposes of each organization are to act as a coordinator of women's activities, both social and otherwise, and to furnish a source of entertainment for various groups. Informal parties and assemblies are held periodically throughout the year to help students make acquaintances. The respective groups are responsible for a considerable part of the social activities at the university.

Epsilon Gamma is composed of women students in the division of Education; Phi Chi represents the science group; business and secretarial students make up Beta Upsilon Sigma, while membership in Alpha Rho Tau is limited to girls majoring in Arts.

Mixed Chorus

Mixed chorus under direction of Mrs. Troy Sears and Mr. Maurice Reichard

During the early part of the school year Gamma Chi spent a considerable amount of time on the traditional classics, particularly at Christmas. However, the group did some harmonization by ear. The Christmas pageant, which has become a tradition, was presented for assembly.

Original and popular music during January and February for the Mask and Mascara musical was the lighter side of the work for the year. During the spring months there was work on classics, musical comedy, ballads and dramatizations of musical numbers in preparation for the Spring Concert which has become an annual production. Creative work was done in that the girls helped plan and produce programs for assemblies.

Men's chorus and Gamma Chi combined to form the Mixed Chorus and presented many selections including a cappella numbers. Other small groups have special meetings such as the men's and girl's ensembles and men's quartet. Accompanists for the group are Winnie Coates, Margie Crutcher and Alice Millar.

Thespians, an organization of the actors and actresses of the University, was under the capable direction of Maurice Reichard. The officers were president, Bonnie Winkelman; vice-president, Kenny Trimbach; secretary-treasurer, Madeleine Unger.

In the fall four one-act plays were produced—"Sleeping Dogs", "Haunted Theater", "Night Court", and "Summons of Sarel". These plays were presented at St. Elizabeth's Hospital for the nurses. In February, Thespians combined with Gamma Chi, Men's Chorus, and the orchestra to produce the musical, "Fifty-four Yards of Cheesecloth". In the Spring a three-act play "Stage Door" was offered.

Special emphasis was placed upon having every member participate actively in some part of the production—acting, make-up, publicity, tickets, or stage work. Thespians' stage crew did the entire staging for the Christmas Pageant and Spring Concert.

Alpha Psi Omega is the national honorary fraternity to which members of Thespians are elected when they have earned a certain number of points by acting, make-up, staging, or other activities connected with the production of a play. Iota Mu is the U. D. chapter of Alpha Psi Omega and the officers are president, Ed Spang; vice-president, Mary Cotterman, and secretary-treasurer, Rita McGarry.

Mask and Mascara

On Sunday, February 10, the University of Dayton Thespians and other campus talent presented the annual Mask and Mascara show. As in the past, the script and music were written entirely by the students of the University, under the guidance of Mr. Maurice Reichard and Mrs. Troy Sears.

Bonnie Winkelman, Bob Buehler, Mary Cotterman and Joe Higgins, the leading players, were ably supported by a legion of supporting actors and actresses in producing a musical show of outstanding merit. All phases of the production were prepared by the students—scenery, lighting, costumes and miscellaneous pieces of equipment. The entire cast worked feverishly for many weeks to present a stage production well deserving of its name.

A packed house was on hand to witness the extravaganza and the enthusiasm with which they responded to the salient features of the play was indicative of the caliber and success of the production.

Along with the actors and stagehands, credit must be given to the members of the orchestra, organized under Mr. Reichard, who played a vital role in making the musical a successful venture.

First row: Howard Miller, Pat Connaughton, Richard Deger, Al Sprauer, Ruth Hall, Vern Vandenbrock, J. B. Walters.
 Second row: Kathleen Brashear, Alvin Bridges, Rafeal Olazagasti, Vic Schramm, Audrey Fink, Ned Lcwry, Harry Davis, John Hakemoller.
 Third row: Bonnie Winckelman, Jerry Haury, Harold Melia, Robert Thygersen, Lucille Erb.
 Standing: Maurice Reicherd, Wm. Wagner.

Concert Band

After an absence of two years, the return of the U. D. band seems to round out the hilarious college life of pre-war days. Nothing could be more inspiring to the students than to watch the University of Dayton band march down the field in their bright blue uniforms. Football games wouldn't seem complete without this high-spirited, high-stepping musical group in full parade.

Of course, these scenes cannot be realized this semester, but Mr. Maurice Reichard is off to a good start in organizing this "must on the campus" for next fall. Rehearsals are being held regularly and gradually his group is increasing in size and abilities.

A Sunday program is planned by the band for the latter part of May and they will be in full swing for the honor day program in the gym at graduation time. They also played for several reviews for the R. O. T. C. this past season.

STAFF

Basic Military training is an integral part of the curricula of all male students in the University of Dayton. Under the direction of Major R. C. Johnston, his adjutant Captain R. C. Bailey, and his staff, Master Sergeant W. L. Richister and Staff Sergeant Wm. Burton, the freshmen and sophomore classes receive instruction, five hours a week, in Articles of War, organization of the army, first aid, hygiene, map reading, dismounted drill and extended order drill.

Although the primary purpose of the basic R. O. T. C. program is to prepare men for the advanced course, it goes without saying that the result of such training leads to discipline, aptness, leadership, and physical fitness.

The advanced unit of the Reserve Officers Training Corps was re-activated this past semester. The corps had been inactive since the spring of 1943. The members of the unit are all former service men who have returned to the university. From the ranks of the advanced corps are selected the student officers of the university's battalion.

The members of the corps are required to receive instruction in all phases of military science and tactics, and in addition to this receive considerable training in leadership and discipline, so as to prepare each member for a post as an officer in the U. S. Army reserve. Such a commission is to be granted after completing two years of training.

The unit is composed of representatives of several branches of the service. However, their training embodies infantry tactics and the commissions to be granted will be in the infantry.

Upsilon Delta Chi, Home Economics Club of the University of Dayton, came into existence during this past year. The object of the organization is four-fold—to further social contacts among students of the Home Economics Club; continually to improve the knowledge concerning the various fields in home economics to train young women to be ideal homemakers as well as active and efficient leaders in the community.

Meetings are held monthly. Outstanding speakers and social periods serve to carry out the objectives of the organization.

Sister M. Raphael, M. S. C., is faculty advisor for the club. The officers are Letitia Rose, president; Ann Fitzgerald, vice-president; Sister M. Magdalen, M. S. C., secretary, and Jane Sullivan, treasurer.

Freshmen Welcome

King George and Queen Pauline

We welcomed more freshman this year than we have for the past three. Consequently, this year's Welcome Dance on October 13 was quite lively and sparkled with original touches.

One of these original touches was the crowning of a freshman king and queen. U. D. has turned out beves of assorted kings and queens but none of the thrones have ever been mounted by "lowly frosh." The 150 couples in the Miami hotel ballroom voted for two candidates before the Grand March. Lovely little Pauline Fecho and George Hohm were crowned and reigned happily for a night.

U. D.'s "red and blue" was the color decoration. Co-chairmen Jack Dawson and Madeleine Unger, and Frank Tansey and Marianna Monty, of the program committee, made arrangements for an evening of wonderful entertainment. Music was furnished by Earl Holderman and his orchestra.

Ticket sales boom

The "Turn-About" Dance, to which the girls invited the boys, was sponsored by Alpha Rho Tau coeds of the Arts Division at Wampler's Barn on December 1. Al Sprauer and his orchestra furnished the music.

The fellows were rather spoiled by the girls who sent them corsages, paid for the tickets, called for them, and escorted them home. The girls paid for the "cokes" at the dance and for the sandwiches after the dance.

Prizes were awarded for the prettiest corsages and there were some masterpieces of floral art! The majority of them were made up of vegetables combined with almost anything that has a counterpart in nature. The girls' artistic talents were very well represented. A public display of dates and "floral fixtures" was made during the grand march.

Co-chairmen were Marjorie Crutcher and Eleanor Kurtz. The committee included Joan Hussey, Betty Hodapp, Alice Millar, and Peggy Watkins.

Junior Prom

With the theme of "Top Hat, White Tie, And Tails" the Junior Prom was held March 2, in the Empire Ballroom of the Miami Hotel. Paper top hats adorned each table and programs were given to each guest.

It can truthfully be said that the Prom was a "Welcome Back" to many of the former U. D. students who had just returned to the campus from the armed forces.

Student talent was featured, as several members of the student body presented solos during the intermission.

The dance was limited to 200 couples and music was furnished by Eddie Kadle, from Springfield.

Senior Farewell

The University of Dayton social season was brought to a resplendent close with the annual Senior Farewell. The dance, virtually bringing down the curtain on all student activities, was held at the Lakeside Ballroom on Friday night, May 24. The overflow crowd danced to the music of Earl Holderman and his orchestra.

For the first time since the spring of '43 the University presented a social affair at a spot outside the city limits. Although the ticket sales were limited to students of the University, the dance floor was a sea of happy couples. Truly, the finale of the school year was a great success and leaves memories which the students will long recall.

With the Farewell were ushered out the students who entered and finished under the accelerated program. In addition, several veterans returned to graduate with this class, and participated wholeheartedly in this, their final chapter of University of Dayton social life.

Hangar

The Flyers' Hangar has become a regular feature of the University's social life. Organized in February, 1945, by a group of students who sensed the need for an informal off-campus meeting place, the Hangar has become a popular fixture in the students' social activities.

Object of the organization is to provide wholesome inexpensive entertainment for the U.D. students and their friends. The Hangar is operated by a student board under faculty supervision. Eleanor Kurtz is chairman of the board while Sister Agnes Immaculata, S.N.D., dean of women, and Father Edmund Baumeister, S.M., assist in an advisory capacity.

Dancing, table tennis, games, and refreshments are the order of the evening when the students gather at the Loretto for bi-weekly Sunday meetings. Music, which was formerly furnished by records, has been provided this year by Al Sprauer and his orchestra.

Special parties were held in preparation for Christmas, St. Patrick's day, and Easter. All the work of the Hangar,—the decorations, buying, preparing and serving of refreshments, and the cleaning up of the meeting place afterwards—is done by the student committee. The Flyer's Hangar is a splendid example of student leadership, initiative, and cooperation.

Military Ball

With the reactivation of the advanced Reserve Officers Training Corps, the annual Military Ball was held this year at the Biltmore Hotel on the night of May 6. The dance was strictly a formal affair.

Randy Brooks

Vocalist — Beverly Byrne

Highlighting the evening and the University of Dayton social calendar was the presentation of bandleader Randy Brooks, popular and talented maestro, and his musical weavers. Brooks and his retinue have played at several of the larger hotels in the east, including the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York City. Beverly Byrne was the vocalist.

COMMITTEE

Bill Ginn, Dave Koerbling, Norm Smith, Orville Weyrich, Jack Forbes, Bill Wright, Jack Gosiger, Art Kohler.

This year the theme of the dance was a welcome back to the service men who are now attending classes at the university. A collection of unit patches worn by the veterans in their respective theaters of service was featured, along with a display of various small arms and army equipment.

Major Robert Johnston, aided by the cadet officers, as the committee, made arrangements for the affair.

Athletics

Athletic Director

Harry Baujan

Head football coach and athletic director, Harry Baujan, was born in Beardstown, Illinois and received most of his education under the golden dome of the University of Notre Dame. It was here that Harry gained his football prominence as a player. He was picked on the All-Western eleven for two years and on the All-Indiana teams for three years.

Harry is typically a Rockne man through and through. He had the distinction of playing with "Rock", seeing him graduate, becoming assistant coach and then playing under him in Rockne's first season as head football coach at Notre Dame.

Graduated in 1917, Baujan entered the army and served overseas in World War I.

Pioneer football in its infancy claimed Harry and he played with Massillon in 1919 and with the Cleveland Indians of 1920. During these two seasons Baujan played with the immortal Jim Thorpe, and compiled an enviable record for himself.

Joining the U.D. staff in 1922 as assistant coach, he was made head coach in 1923 and athletic director in 1928. Strictly a stickler for fundamentals, he has developed many a fine player and quite a few outstanding elevens.

Football Team

First row: Marrinan, Tolle, Hickey, Ruben, Zimmerman, Monahan, Busch, Hackett, Klotz, Mariscalco. Second row: Brooks, Shapero, Gutbrod, Schutzman, Radcliff, McClellan, Boff, Campbell, Warning and Scholey. Third row: Schiebelhuth, Seeboeck, Toscani, Tansey, Hall, Boxwell, Seward, Mumpower, Robbins, Zvakos, Shingledecker, Mills and Hanby. Fourth row: Maloney, Volk, Goss, Rowe, Koehler, Pitzer, Hickey, Eberanz, Bolton, Swift, Hartmeyer, Lewis and Gosiger. Fifth row: Stamatakos, Shroyer, Reed, Scrafield, Brown, Dahn, Arnz, DiCiacco, Wright and Carson.

After an absence of three years Harry Baujan's boys will again take to the gridiron, come fall. But conditioning is the team's greatest need, and that's exactly the purpose behind the spring practice session.

A very faint glimpse of football activity was seen this past fall, but possibilities have been altered a great deal with the reappearance of former Flyer gridiron greats. Among these are Bill Goss, a regular on the 1942 team. Together with Goss there are seven others, all vets, who were members of the '42 squad and who will form the nucleus of the 1946 eleven. They are: Dick Dahn, Bernie Hickey, Nick DiCiacco, Ed Toscani, Bart Mariscalco, Walt Malley, and Jim Hanby.

In the form of additional material there are Harry Brooks, an Indiana U. athlete, Gus Shroyer, a former Northridge great, and Ken Boxwell, a second string back in his first year of college ball at Ohio State. From the Franklin Street school, Chaminade, Tom McCarthy and Lou Bolton will bolster the squad.

The managerial chores will be handled by Jake Steberl and Jack Gosiger.

Basketball Team

Front row: B. Wolfe, F. Mislán, G. Shroyer, J. Herbig, C. Laughter, G. Wolke, C. Jones, B. Knisley, W. Bruce.

FACULTY ADVISOR

Bro. Aloysius Doyle, S. M.

Intercollegiate athletics at the University were resumed this year with the appearance of the first U. D. court squad since 1943. Jim Carter molded together two fighting teams from freshmen material which succeeded in winning three games while losing 13.

Led by Bill Ginn, who topped Bob Kavanaugh's scoring record of 236 points made in 1941 by making 245 points in his first year in intercollegiate competition, the Flyers scored surprise wins over Ohio U., Cincinnati, and Xavier. Ginn was followed in the scoring column by Kenny Boxwell, who with Ginn were the only two regulars on both the first and second semester teams.

The first semester team succeeded in winning one game while losing four. The second semester squad won two and lost nine. Although the squad was strengthened in the spring semester by the addition of such former U. D. favorites as Bill Knisley, Dick Dahn, Bernie Hickey, and Kenny Pitzer, all returned servicemen, their inexperience in the face of seasoned opposition left them in most cases on the short side of the score.

However, with such promising comers as Wolke, Shroyer, Herbig, Bockrath, and Wolfe, prospects for next year's season look bright.

Coach

James E. Carter

Head basketball coach, James E. Carter, is a native of Indianapolis, Indiana, where he starred not only in basketball but also in football and track. However, it was in football that Jim made his fame. Teamed with Duane Purvis they made Purdue football the thing from 1932-34. Carter made All-American in 1934 and was graduated in 1935. That summer he played on the squad of the Collegiate All-Stars in their game against the Chicago Bears pro team.

A coaching career for Jim was begun at Lowell High School in Lowell, Indiana. He found his mark in his first year, winning sixteen out of twenty games in high powered Indiana competition. This was followed by a job in coaching at Mankato State Teachers College, Mankato, Minnesota. He came to U. of D. as basketball coach in 1939.

With the onset of the war Dayton dropped intercollegiate sports and Jim accepted a post with the E. I. DuPont DeNemores plant in Pasco, Washington, as recreation director. With the resumption of athletics at the university, Carter returned to his position of head basketball and assistant football coach.

A U. D. Flyer basketball team takes the floor for the first time since 1943 and goes down fighting, beaten by a more experienced University of Cincinnati team by a 45-28 score.... The first home game of the season finds the Flyers on the short end of a 53-41 score in the first game with Ohio University.... Lack of experience beats the Dayton squad again.... Miami University beats the Flyers at Oxford by a 63-31 count.... The Dayton team tastes victory for the first time in the game with Cincinnati U. at the Coliseum winning 48-37.... Bockrath finds the basket for 16 points.... Kenny Boxwell turns in a sterling defensive job as the Flyers go down in defeat to the famous Bowling Green Falcons by a 68-37 score.... The Flyers held their own the first half but when three of the regulars were put out of the game on fouls the Falcons jumped ahead.... The first game of the second semester finds new faces in the U. D. lineup.... Bill Knisley joins the squad along with nine other returned G.I.'s.... Despite the obvious strengthening of the team the experienced Camp Atterbury soldiers beat the Flyers by a 61-36 score.... Although Bill Ginn, who has led the Flyer scorers all season by consistently hitting the bucket for at least 13 points every game, really finds his eye and scores 24 points, the Xavier University Musketeers trim the Dayton squad by a 48-41 score.... The Flyers continue to look ragged but show a fighting spirit.... At Huntington, West Va., against Marshall college the team begins to click although Marshall bests them by the margin of 57-46. Gus Shroyer holds the nation's highest scorer, Hall to 14 points as Ginn and Boxwell lead the U.D. scorers.... The second semester team hits their peak against Ohio University at Athens and avenges an earlier defeat by a 65-53 score.... Ginn hits the bucket for 25 points as Wolfe and Knisley hold the high scoring Bobcats down.... The Flyers annex their second victory in a row over the Xavier University Musketeers in the Xavier Fieldhouse by beating their traditional rivals 47-32.... Ginn again sparks the Dayton team by scoring his season's high of 27 points.... Wolke also shows promise as a scorer.... Although going down in defeat to the highly touted Wright Field Kittyhawk by a 52-30 score the Flyers win the respect and admiration of the crowd by their spirit and sportsmanship.... A ragged last four minutes cost the Dayton squad a win over Miami U.... Score Miami 47, U.D. 42.... The Camp Atterbury soldiers score their second win over the Flyers at Atterbury by a 64-34 score.... The Dayton cagers journey to Springfield for a game with Wittenberg college but return on the short end of a 54-50 score.... The game is marred by many fouls, and the alert play of Kenny Pitzer is missed when he is put out via the foul route.... A combination of the unerring accuracy of Hall and Tancovich and the erring play of the Flyers results in the worst defeat of the season for the U.D. quintet as Marshall trounces them 88-42.... It marks the final home appearance of the Flyers.... The last game of the season is played against Bradley Tech at Peoria, Ill.... Again the freshmen Flyers are smothered under by a 87-42 score but Ginn scores enough points to enable him to break Bob Kavanaugh's scoring record standing since 1941.... Season's record stands at 3 wins, 13 losses.

Cheerleaders

Margaret Watkins, Margaret Ashworth, Shirley Duerr

The first cheers of the season rang out in the Coliseum and spurred the Flyer basketeters to their initial victory. George Francis and Gene Stangline from Tennessee, along with New Yorker Bill Burnich, displayed a combination of drawls and accents in their yells that brought a great response from the royal rooters.

In the middle of the season, however, draft boards beckoned and removed the three male cheerleaders, necessitating their replacement with co-eds. The girls alternated in leading cheers, a different trio performing at each game. New cheers were introduced by the group and brought forth a favorable reaction from the student body.

The cheerleaders were organized again through the suggestion of the Student Council.

Soccer, hockey, basketball, volleyball, and baseball are the major sports, and ten points may be earned in each. Five points are offered for participation in tennis, swimming, bowling, golf, badminton, ping pong, archery, fencing, and hiking. Awards are made upon gaining the prescribed number of points.

On April 6, members of W. A. A. attended the University of Cincinnati Play Day. A dance at the Loretto, April 24, was a feature of the W. A. A. program.

Rifle Team

An integral part of the R. O. T. C. program at Dayton University is the rifle team. Each year since the inauguration of R. O. T. C. training the University has been represented by a squad of marksman chosen from the ranks of military students. This year is no exception and despite the relatively small male student body and a smaller enrollment in the ranks of the R. O. T. C. the team has turned in a creditable record in each of several matches in which they have fired.

Although no new trophies have been added to U. of D.'s sizable collection by this year's team, they have certainly not dimmed the luster of past performances by U. of D. rifle squads.

Thus far the team has fired in the Hearst Trophy Match and the Fifth Service Command National Intercollegiate Firing Match with several more matches to be fired before the completion of the season.

The team is coached by Sgt. Richister and Sgt. Burton. Student officers are W. Greene, P. Grusenmeyer, J. Forbes and W. Ginn.

Among the better marksmen on the squad are Warren Greene, Les Huber, Tom McCarthy, Emmett Campbell, Bill Ginn, Bob Thome and Ray Heiber.

Intramurals

With the large influx of students and the fruits to be derived from the possession of a sound body, a well-rounded and rather strenuous intramural program was introduced to the students through Mr. Reeves Schwartz, physical education instructor.

For the men students football, basketball, and baseball were the main forte. Leagues were established to increase interest in the respective sports. Many potential varsity grid-iron and court stars are in the process of development under the intramural program.

The women's field was somewhat wide and more varied than that of the men. For the women, rifle firing, hockey, volley ball, basketball, archery and golf were offered. Participation in the respective activities in both cases met with an encouraging response from the student body.

Field House

Exterior view of field house

At long last, due to the generosity and vision of a group of friends and alumni of the University composing the Field house committee, the University of Dayton's dream of a field-house is soon to be realized. Construction is to begin in the spring of 1947.

The University of Dayton fieldhouse is to seat between 4,800 and 6,000 people and is to be erected at a cost of approximately $300,000. It will contain two basketball courts, offices, locker and shower rooms, smoking rooms, a medical room, and classrooms for the use of the physical and health education department staff. Both intramural and intercollegiate athletic events will be possible. It will also be open to the city of Dayton for high school or civic activities.

The exterior of the building will be constructed of red brick trimmed in stone. It will occupy the site facing Alberta St., west of St. Joseph hall, between the library and the stadium. It will be so built that no posts will be present as hazards on the floor or to mar the spectators' view.

Although the fieldhouse will not contain the word "Memorial" in its title still that idea will be carried out in equipping the building. It is the intention of the University to have dedicated to the U. D. gold stars certain fixtures and pieces of equipment within the structure.

DIARY

The class of '46 has shattered many traditions of long standing. The war, the shortage of men on the campus, acceleration—all these add up to make our history interesting if not exciting, as compared to the old pre-war of other days....

We were the last class to enter on the accelerated program, and, although we lost many students along the way, we were joined by many others through acceleration. Some of the former students who left for the services have returned and are graduating with us....

Inter-collegiate sports were discontinued in '42, so ours was the only class which did not get to see a U. D. football team in action. This past year, though, inter-collegiate basketball did come back....

Memories of these earlier days include those of the A.S.T.P. boys and darkened spirits as classmates were plucked out of class and taken into military service....

Initiation seemed to be the keynote of our class—first in February of our Freshman year and again in September of our sophomore year....

Among student personalities we have quite a few outstanding members. Ada Kay Bomford became the first co-ed editor of the Exponent, occupying that position during her junior and senior years. Alice Millar was elected first co-ed president of the Mathematics Club. Speaking of mathematics, Alice Blaeser won the award for excellence in math in the junior class.

Ann Fitzgerald was voted the most popular girl on the campus, and reigned as Queen over the Spring Festival last year. One of her attendants was Letitia Rose, who is president of the Home Economics Club and vice-president of Sigma Delta Pi.

Nor must we forget the outstanding men in our class.

Three of them, who are "big" men in the strict sense of the word are Al Braun, class president, Dave Borchers, vice-president, and Fred Henne, a colorful individual throughout his college days and member of the Student Council in his junior year.

Last spring our class joined with the class of '45 to sponsor the Senior Farewell. On this occasion Joe Cunningham was chosen as the most popular male in the junior class.

Diary

Nature's ever moving wanderer, time, has marked off three years since, as a group of expectant Freshman, we entered U. D. Numbering 103 strong, we gathered from many states as well as from Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Guatemala, with the problem of getting acquainted the foremost in our minds. Opportunities to do so soon came—Skateland was the scene of the frolic. Later, at a more formal welcome party, we danced to the music of Eddie James in the Empire Ballroom at Hotel Miami....

War left its mark upon our college life at the outset. Athletics were abolished and accelerated programs kept one's mind on studies....

Among the students serving as class officers and active leaders were Gene Duane, Raphael Lizardi, Ruth Koerner, Dotty Zaenglein, Eleanor Becker, Joan Sides, Mary Cotterman, Sam DeHart and Bonnie Winckelman....

Class of 1947

Memories of these earlier college days include those of the A. S. T. P. boys and darkened spirits as classmates were plucked out of class and taken into military service....

Initiation seemed to be the keynote of our class—first in February of our Freshman year and again in September of our sophomore year....

As Sophomores we took part in the activities of the school with much more confidence. Despite the draft, we placed representatives in virtually all activities.

Standouts were Kenny Trimbach, Joan Hussey, Robert Mislán, Eleanor Kurtz and Jim Beirise. Red Cross became the prime concern of the co-eds. . . .

Summer classes served to give some of us a Junior standing before September, but for most of us the fall of 1945 saw the beginning of our third year at U. D. Returning veterans and resumption of intercollegiate athletics were the outstanding changes over the two previous years.

Diary

Recalling the hearty welcome with which we were received into U. D., with the Skating Party, initiation rules, Cap Crowning, and gala Welcome Dance, we Sophomores are reminiscing over our past year as Freshmen....

After losing Knobby Walz, Bob McCann, and Bob Oppenheim, as President, Vice-president, and Treasurer, to the armed forces after one semester, we elected Ed Spang, Jim MacQuie, and Madeleine Unger to fill their coveted offices, Mary Wood remaining as Secretary....

Remembering these achievements we began our Sophomore year, resolving to make it even bigger and better than the last. Our first task was to give the incoming Freshmen a welcome they would never forget. This was done in the traditional way of initiation topped with a Welcome Dance....

Class of 1948

Athletics were resumed after a two-year standstill and we Sophomores were proud of the outstanding cage performance of George Sullivan....

The "Daytonian" made its appearance after an absence of two years. Emphasis was placed upon the return to normal college life of pre-war days. Co-ed enrollment jumped to a new high....

The return of many veterans to our campus and to our class helped to make it an even more outstanding year. Pleasant times were many and sophomores ranked high in both curricular and extra-curricular activities.

Initiation seemed to be the keynote of our class—first in February of our Freshman year and again in September of our Sophomore year.

Diary

Into the corridors and classrooms of the University of Dayton in the fall and winter of 1945-46 came the first post-war class of the university and the largest since 1942. Some of our classmates came from the armed forces after long months of service, some formerly worked in war plants, and others came direct from high school; but we met at U.D. with one main purpose: to get a college education; and at the close of our first year on the campus we are well on our way to being loyal and enthusiastic alumni of the class of 1949.....

To help us get used to college life we had the guidance of "great big" sophomores who, by means of a spirited initiation program, soon let us know who was boss. To help us get into the social swing our class had two freshmen welcome dances....

Without our freshmen athletes we would not have had a basketball team, the first since the 1942-43 season. Such names as Ginn, Bockrath, Boxwell, Bath, Wolfe, Wolke, Shroyer, and Birtle will be remembered. We had a baseball team too with help of Cyp Klamo....

Other freshmen leaders in extra-curricular activities were Dick Barr, Margaret Ashworth, Peggy Watkins, Joe Higgins, Rosemary Busic, Charles Hart, Ruth Davis, Demetra Zavakos, Helen Vlahos, and Gertrude Nobis. Our class officers were Jess Steberl, president, Jim Murphy, vice-president, Shirley Duerr, secretary, and Bill Dombi, treasurer.

- - - and to Those Returning Not - - -

The muffled drum's sad roll has beat
The soldier's last tattoo;

No more on Life's parade shall meet
That brave and fallen few.

On Fame's eternal camping-ground
Their silent tents are spread,

And Glory guards, with solemn round,
The bivouac of the dead.

No rumor of the foe's advance
Now swells upon the wind;

No troubled thought at midnight haunts
Of loved ones left behind;

No vision of the morrow's strife
The warrior's dream alarms;

No braying horn nor screaming fife
At dawn shall call to arms.

Their shivered swords are red with rust,
Their plumed heads are bowed;

Their haughty banner, trailed in dust,
Is now their martial shroud.

And plenteous funeral tears have washed
The red stains from each brow,

And the proud forms, by battle gashed,
Are free from anguish now.

- - Requiem

The neighing troop, the flashing blade,
The bugle's stirring blast,
The charge, the dreadful cannonade,
The din and shout, are past;
Nor war's wild note nor glory's peal
Shall thrill with fierce delight
Those breasts that nevermore may feel
The rapture of the fight.

'Twas in that hour the stern command
Called to a martyr's grave
The flower of his beloved land,
The nation's flag to save.
The raven's scream, or eagle's flight
Or shepherd's pensive lay
Alone awakes each sullen height
That frowned o'er that dread fray.

Rest on, embalmed and sainted dead!
Dear as the blood ye gave;
No impious footsteps here shall tread
The herbage of your grave;
Nor shall your glory be forgot
While Fame her record keeps,
Or honor points the hallowed spot
Where Valor proudly sleeps.

Class of 1904
St. Mary's Institute

June, 1946

Dear Graduate,

Our most sincere congratulations to you on your graduation.

May you find the path to your goal filled with good things -- a path straight and free from barriers.

May you surmount all obstacles with wisdom and forbearance, finding the obstacles but a challenge to greater achievement.

And may the hand of God help you in your tasks, granting you the happiness of one attaining his mark.

Again -- our most sincere congratulations,
The gray heads and bald heads
Class of 1904

P. S. Please pass along to Alma Mater our grati-

AT 25 years of age, you have about 100,000 working hours ahead of you before you reach retirement age. Your success and happiness in life depend upon how and where you invest these 100,000 hours.

Before you can decide what you will make your life's work, you should have the answers to two important questions. First, what business, trade, or profession appeals most to you? Second, what do you know about the institution with which you plan to associate yourself?

More and more it is recognized that marketing plays a vital part in our economic structure. Capable men accordingly are investigating the opportunities offered in the field of salesmanship.

If you plan to invest your 100,000 working hours in the sales profession after you graduate from the University of Dayton, perhaps you will be interested in reading "YOUR 100,000 HOURS," a booklet published by The National Cash Register Company. A copy is available at any NCR branch office, or you may obtain one from the Sales Training Division at the factory.
